REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1921.

ESTABLISHED 1859

CITY TRUSTEES MET MONDAY

At the meeting of the Board of City Trustees Monday evening the main topic was the report of Trustee Tuchen on the dredging of Redwood Creek. He said that he had an interview with Colonel Dukayne, U. S. Army, who has charge of this district. The Colonel said that the dredging was opposed to dredging the channel south of the Steinberger wharf, because a better basin could be had at this point.

Colonel Dukayne suggested that the city build a wharf at the foot of Steinberger street and to construct a road to it. Trustee Tuchen was of the opinion that if the government would build the wharf and the city build the wharf, the government would be doing the channel there would be hopes of government aid.

In order to furnish the government with the necessary data City Engineer Dimmit was instructed to make soundings and furnish the necessary information regarding the probable cost of building the track and wharf. A telegram was ordered sent to Washington asking for an extension of time before closing the project.

L. P. Behrens, representing the property owners on Jefferson avenue, was present and asked the board to stand a portion of the expense of improving that thoroughfare. He suggested that the city stand two-thirds of the expense. In view of the fact that in the past the city has kept Jefferson street in repair and the street has not cost the property owners anything the board decided to take the matter under advisement.

L. A. Heimer and Henry Steinberger, of the grammar school board, appeared before the board and requested that some action be taken to construct a roadway to connect the Rees tract with the Woodside road, mainly for the benefit of the school children who live in that district. The board assured the speakers that the matter would be considered in the near future.

Trustee Tuchen brought up the matter of constructing shoulders on the State Highway through the city. The board seemed to favor the scheme and instructed City Engineer Dimmit to make the necessary plans and re-establish the grades.

REQUESTS MADE IN WILL OF J. HENRY MEYER

The last will and testament of J. Henry Meyer, who died at his home near Menlo Park on March 30, was filed for probate yesterday. The will was dated December 23, 1915, and was witnessed by E. S. Heller and F. McAuliffe. After the death of Mrs. Meyer in 1918 Mr. Meyer executed a codicil whereby all his property was bequeathed to his three children, Charles Meyer, Eugene and Alice Meyer. They were named as executor and executrices, respectively.

John Grueler, a friend, was also named as executor. They are to serve without bonds.

The petition for letters testamentary does not state the value of the estate except that it exceeds the sum of $10,000. It is believed that Mr. Meyer left over a million dollars in cash, real estate and valuable securities. Heller, Ehrman, White & McAuliffe are the attorneys for the petitioners.

DEATH OF JOHN JASPER

John Jasper passed away suddenly on Monday, April 4, at Italy Valley, Elko county, Nev. He left his home here a short time before to visit one of his ranches which he had leased.

He was a native of England, but spent the greater portion of his life in Nevada, toiling diligently. By hard work Mr. Jasper had amassed a fortune. He owned 5000 acres of cattle range in the Sagebrush State. His herd of 1000 cattle roamed over them at will. A good portion of the range had been leased by Mr. Jasper. He had a good stock of horses. He was called to Nevada last week in reference to these cattle.

Mr. Jasper was unostentatious and knew the extent of his charity. He was a quiet, retiring man who loved to aid others. He disliked display or show.

The remains of the good man are at the family residence, 716 Hopkins avenue. The funeral will take place this morning at 8:45 o'clock, thence Mount Carmel church, where a solemn requiem mass is to be celebrated for the repose of his soul. The body is to rest in a mausoleum at Holy Cross cemetery, Colma.

The widow and daughter are broken hearted at the loss of a devoted husband and loving father. They have the sympathy of this community in their sad bereavement.

It is understood that the Norys were married at Burlington, Vt., on November 27, 1900. They have four children. Defendant is a marble worker at Daly City earning $7 a day.

DEATH OF RICHARD SHIELDS AT SAN CARLOS SATURDAY

Shortly after 1 o'clock last Saturday afternoon Richard Shields, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, was found dead at his home in a chair at his home at San Carlos. He arose that morning a little after 10 o'clock saying that he felt "as fine as a fiddle." He ate heartily and then repaired to his room to rest. His brother-in-law, Asa Hull, was in the house and going to Mr. Shields' room found him dead. Heart trouble was the cause of death, an ailment with which he suffered for about six months. He had been dead only a short time when he was discovered by Mr. Hull.

The death of Mr. Shields caused profound sorrow among his friends by whom he was admired and honored. Mr. Shields first came to San Mateo county in 1888 when he installed the new machinery at the Belmont pumping works of Spring Valley Water Company.

Completing his work at Belmont he was employed at the Union Iron Works in San Francisco where he worked on the cruiser Olympia. When the latter ship was finished he enlisted on the cruiser for three years and made a cruise to the Far East. When his term of enlistment expired he had become tired of the heat of the tropics and desired to return to California. At that time war was declared between the United States and Spain. Notwithstanding his desire to return home he with 65 others re-enlisted for the duration of the war. Mr. Shields became an assistant engineer. The Olympia was Commodore Dewey's flagship and it took an important part in the historic battle of Manila Bay. Shields saw Dewey climb to the bridge and heard him give his famous order "Fire when ready Gridley."

Congress recognized the great sacrifice the 65 men had made in re-enlisting and awarded them medals of honor and gave them the privilege of admittance to the floor of the senate and house of representatives.

Mr. Shields was a modest man rarely speaking of this distinguished honor conferred upon him by a grateful country. When the world war broke out Shields immediately offered his services but owing to his age he was not accepted.

Mr. Shields married Miss Mamie Hull of San Carlos sister of Guy P. Hull and Asa Hull, in 1900. Their married life had been a very happy one. For a number of years Mr. Shields had been the assistant engineer in the Spring Valley Water Company's pumping station at San Carlos and lately had been taking the place of the chief engineer, who had been visiting in Australia. He had been connected with that plant for 18 years.

Mr. Shields was a native of San Francisco aged 56 years. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Tackey of San Francisco, and three brothers—County Auditor J. J. Shields of this city; James J. Shields of New Orleans and Henry Shields of San Francisco.

He was a well liked and admired citizen. Everyone knew and loved him. His stricken family has the sympathy of the community in its sad loss.

The funeral on Tuesday at Mount Carmel church was largely attended by friends and relatives. At the home before the body was removed the San Mateo lodge of Elks conducted short services. At the church a requiem mass was celebrated and an augmented choir rendered the music.

Father Kennedy spoke in part as follows:

"Mr. Shields was a man who commanded the respect and enjoyed the friendship of everyone with whom he came in contact. He was regarded by all as a 'square' man—honest, just and fearless. He was an example to all for his loyal service to his Creator, for only unrent duty or serious sickness prevented him adoring his God by attendance at Sunday mass. Second only to his love for God was his love for his country. He served through the Spanish-American war as an officer on Admiral Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, and at the outbreak of the world war he offered his service to his country more, but was not accepted on account of his age. His sorrowing family have the consolation given them by the reflection that he was faithful in small things as in the great and that he served as in the best of his strength and ability his God, his country and his friends."

Interment was in St. John's cemetery, San Mateo.

The heirs at law are the petitioner, aged 61, and a daughter, Elizabeth S. Beylard, aged 27. The petition does not state the value of the estate except that it exceeds the sum of $10,000. It is said the estate will reach the quarter million mark.

Arthur H. Redington is the attorney for the petitioner.

The building will be used partly by Mr. Chubbick, who is to conduct the garage near by. It is to be a two-story modern office building with stores underneath and offices in the upper story. It is to be modern in every particular and will cost about $25,000.

Dr. Northcott was convicted by a jury in Redwood City on a charge of causing the death of Inez Reed, a nurse, as the result of a criminal operation. During the trial Mrs. Northcott was in constant attendance and aided her husband in every way possible. COMMITTEE AT WORK FOR CHAUTAUQUA

An organization meeting of the local guarantors of the 1921 Chautauqua was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday evening for the purpose of electing officers and making plans for the presentation of the Ellison-White Chautauqua program in this city for six days, April 30 to May 5. L. A. Heimer was chosen president and F. K. Towne secretary and treasurer. Mr. Heimer has appointed C. M. Dossie to have charge of the advertising and F. K. Towne will have charge of the ticket distribution. All these gentlemen have served before on the Chautauqua committees and have proved themselves very capable. Appointments of other committee chairmen will be made later by Mr. Heimer. J. C. Herberman, the advance representative of the Ellison-White Company, explained what the duties of the local committee were and outlined the chief features of this year's program. The Chautauqua contract differs this year from previous years in that the community shares in any receipts in excess of the amount that is guaranteed by local people. Formerly any money received after the opening day went to the Ellison-White people. Under this year's plan the local committee will receive 25 per cent of all over sales 25 per cent of gate receipts and all money derived from the sale of seat reservations or other concessions. It was decided at the meeting Wednesday evening to give the money so received to the local Boy Scout troop and to the fund for furnishing the civic auditorium. The government has classified the Chautauqua system as an educational institution on a non-profit sharing basis so there will be no war tax collected this year.

Season admission tickets will be $2.50 student tickets $1.50 and children's tickets $1.

It has grown to be almost an established belief that the appearance of any one of America's great musical artists on a Chautauqua program was quite out of the question. It costs real money to lure the famous songbirds out of the east and Chautauqs operating on a popular price basis have never felt like assuming the risk.

The announcement then of the Ellison-White people that they have secured Frances Ingram the noted contralto for a five weeks tour in California is of particular interest. Miss Ingram unquestionably ranks among the first artists of the land. She was formerly with the Chicago Grand Opera Company and during the past season has been a prominent figure with the Metropolitan in New York.

Cleofonte Campanelli late managing director of the Chicago opera, said "Frances Ingram has the best American contralto voice I have ever heard." Daniel Frohman has made the following statement: "The best contralto voice I have ever heard. She stands among the few great artists." Young E. Allison, one of the country's foremost music critics, said "I've heard them all in 'Carmen,' but nobody to my mind ever sang the 'Habanera' as well as she did. What a lovely, ravishing voice! You don't find such throats outside of Italy once in ten thousand times—a lyrical and dramatic voice with the long beats of wings to the clear sky."

Miss Ingram comes to California for her Chautauqua tour immediately at the close of her New York opera season. She has made several coast tours in the past but her concert has been given exclusively in the few large cities of California, Washington and Oregon. Her appearance here is scheduled for the third night of Chautauqua. She will be accompanied by two assisting artists.

"The day is coming when people are going to ask for programs all in English and they're going to kick if they don't get them." So said Frances Ingram, the great contralto of the Metropolitan company, who appears in a special concert engagement on the third night of the Chautauqua in a recent interview given in New York to "Musical America."

She continued: "Mark my words, the time isn't far off when the demand will be not for a group of Italian songs, a group of French songs or a group of anything else but English—just as sure as I'm alive."

This is an interesting statement coming from one of the great artists because so few of them have had the courage to come out so decidedly on this much discussed question. It almost seems as though the music world has been tradition bound on the matter of singing in foreign language and it is gratifying to find an artist of the rank of Miss Ingram who is not afraid to voice her honest convictions. Singing in English is coming and we welcome the assistance of such a valliant champion as the Metropolitan contralto.

A QUESTION FOR THE PROFESSORS TO ANSWER

On April 6 Judge George A. Kett to San Mateo sent Joseph Da Rott to the county jail here to serve a sentence of ten days for the "selling and furnishing intoxicating liquor to an habitual drunkard." What would the sentence have been pronounced upon the defendant if he was not an habitual drunkard? This is a problem in mathematics which is passed up to the professors in high school to solve.

FIREBUG AGAIN TRIES TO BURN SEQUOIA THEATER

A little after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Sequoia Theater on Broadway was discovered on fire. The alarm was given by Sydney Dalve, who rushed to the rear of the show house. The fire department was called out and before any damage was done the incipient blaze was extinguished. This was the third attempt to burn the theater. The fire in February last caused a loss of nearly $10,000. The police were certain that the last attempt was of an incendiary origin and set about to capture the guilty party.

A 17-year-old Redwood City boy was suspected and after a struggle by the district attorney on Wednesday he broke down and confessed. The name of the lad is withheld in accordance with the policy of the Times-Gazette in juvenile cases.

The boy explained in detail the methods used in starting the fire, but could not give an intelligent reason for his actions. According to the boy he gained entrance to the theater through a window before noon. He went beneath the stage and sat there for several hours planning the best way to set the place on fire. He says he found some scraps of film and put these in two corners of the basement. After applying the match he hurried out of the theater and went around the block to the front of the building and awaited developments. The fire was not discovered until several minutes later when smoke was seen pouring from the back windows of the theater by Mrs. P. E. Brand who resided near by.

The fire was found to be burning in two places by the firemen, just as the boy had planned. Quick work prevented the flames from spreading. The boy has been turned over to the juvenile authorities.

The lad is now in the detention home. He has heretofore been an excellent student. He was a favorite with all. His friends cannot account for his actions. He can't himself. He says he did it on impulse, not considering the consequences. His case is one for students of psychology to investigate.

LAMBERT & WALTER MAKE IMPORTANT REALTY SALES

Lambert & Walter made a sale during the week which will be of considerable advantage to Redwood City, as the purchaser, a business man from Palo Alto, intends erecting some very fine improvements.

The property sold was six lots containing 300 feet frontage running from Claremont avenue to Whipple and fronting on the state highway besides the two corners. They also sold for the account of Mrs. Minnie Underhill the property belonging to her on Clifford avenue a short distance from Eaton road west of Wellesley Park to a client of the office. The Raynolds who purchased a business property on Main street from George C. Rose are now making extensive improvements and shortly will open up a French laundry in that location.

They sold the corner of Spruce and Heller streets eastern addition to a client also the corner of Heller and Laurel opposite the new cannery, to Tony Bertolucci, and they are building on the same.

They have made several deals in their burlingame office and find business quite brisk in both of their offices.

City Attorney Albert Mansfield has purchased from them the beautiful Chatham property, corner of Alden and Arguello streets, for his future residence.

For the account of Mrs. Mary Ring to John Billback they sold a lot on Phelps street near Elm, upon which the purchaser is now erecting a bungalow. They also sold to Mark Ryan another 70-foot lot in Dinegar Park giving our bustling business man and mayor 210 feet frontage in his home place.

FIREMEN WITH BUCKETS FIGHT SUNDAY FIRE

By prompt work of the Redwood City fire department Sunday afternoon the Hellman home, back of Wellesley Park, was saved from destruction by fire.

The house is at present occupied by E. W. Gay and family. Members of the family discovered flames issuing from the cupola on the roof at about 3:30 in the afternoon and promptly turned in a fire alarm. The members of the fire department responded and as the house is outside the district where a force is available were compelled to depend upon chemicals and a bucket brigade.

Ladders were placed against the roof and a brigade formed. Owing to the high wind great difficulty was encountered in fighting the blaze, which threatened to get beyond the efforts of the firemen. However, after considerable hard work the fire was extinguished, having been confined entirely to the cupola. The damage was estimated at about $500.

Practically all the furnishings of the house were carried out during the blaze.

CHATHAM HOME BOUGHT BY ALBERT MANSFIELD

City Attorney Albert Mansfield has purchased Robert Chatham's home at 728 Arguello street and with his family will move into the place. The sale was made through Lambert & Walter, the Broadway realty dealers. The Chatham home has been occupied for several years past by E. Romero and family.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY FOR MRS. HAMMERSON

Mrs. Sarah Hammerson, a pioneer woman of Belmont, passed away on Wednesday evening at the Quinlan sanitarium on Washington street in this city from injuries resulting from an automobile accident occurring on the state highway at Five Points Tuesday evening.

The funeral took place from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Hallett, in Redwood Highlands yesterday afternoon thence to Cypress Lawn cemetery, where impressive services took place in the chapel, attended by a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Mrs. Hammerson came to Belmont in 1874 and resided there continuously until about three years ago when her husband, the village blacksmith passed away. She then made her home with her daughters in different portions of the state spending much time with Mrs. Hallett and Mrs. Lambert in this city.

She was known far and wide for her many acts of kindness to others. In sickness she was first to come to offer her assistance. She gave freely of her time to those in distress and sorrow. At Belmont where she had lived so long she was a great favorite and in no place will the news of her untimely death be so sadly received. Her neighbors admired her for her womanly virtues, her charitable disposition and her consideration of others. The good woman is mourned by hundreds.

The following old time friends accompanied by George C. Rose, H. W. Schaberg, P. P. Chamberlain, George Russell and Eugene O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. Hallett and Mrs. Hammerson started for Stanford University Tuesday night to attend a concert given by the Peninsula Musical Association.

Lambert was having trouble with the machine and when he reached the Five Points drove into a garage to have some adjustments made. While there Mrs. Hammerson unknown to the other members of the family got out of the car to go across the highway to a candy store for lozenges. When in the middle of the roadway she became confused by the glare of lights of machines approaching in opposite directions and stepped in the path of the car driven by Mr. Thomas Bradbury of Burlingame.

Mrs. Hammerson was dragged for a considerable distance and one of the wheels passed over her body before the driver could bring the machine to a stop. The injured woman was rushed to the Quinlan sanitarium where Dr. J. L. Ross and Dr. F. S. Gregory who were called found her suffering from a severe scalp wound, a fractured knee, numerous abrasions about the body and internal injuries.

Mr. Bradbury was exonerated from all blame by a coroner's jury that met at the undertaking parlors of the James Crowe Company yesterday. No blame is attached to him whatever.

Mrs. Hammerson was a native of England aged 72 years. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. C. G. Lambert and Mrs. Harry E. Hallett Redwood City and Mrs. Alice Gloosky, Portola; Mrs. Lionel Barneson, Los Angeles; Chas. Hammerson, Bicknell, Los Angeles county; Thomas Hammerson, Oakland. Alfred Hammerson, another son, passed away in San Mateo a few years ago.

SUED FOR DIVORCE

John Mori, well known as the former proprietor of a roadhouse at Rockaway Beach, is defendant in a suit for divorce filed by his wife, Rhea M. Mori, through her attorney, E. S. Bell of Oakland. The Moris were married on June 23, 1910, in Ukiah, and have on daughter aged 6½ years. The complaint alleges that Mori has treated his wife and child in a cruel and inhuman manner, called them vile names, causing them much mental anguish, and has made life so unbearable in his company that she was forced to leave him on March 4 last. She asks for a decree of divorce, custody of the child and such other relief as may be proper.

ASKS SCHOOL BILL TO BE REPORTED UNFAVORABLE

L. P. Behrens and Roy W. Cloud went to Sacramento Wednesday to appear before the education committee of the senate to show why senate bill No. 309 by Jones and senate bill No. 386 by Rominger should not be reported favorably to the senate.

These bills which were practically the same would if enacted into law allow any elementary school district to withdraw and unite with an adjoining high school district upon presentation of a petition of three-fourths of the heads of families residing in the elementary district.

The bills were presented to relieve a condition in Runnymede and Los Altos. The people of these districts would prefer sending their children to Palo Alto rather than to Redwood City and Mountain View. Attorney N. E. Malcolm of Palo Alto Charles Weeks of Runnymede Prof. S. D. Townley of Stanford University and other members of a delegation from Runnymede Paul Shoup and W. F. Hyde of Los Altos appeared and argued for the passage of the bills.

Mr. Cloud, Mr. Behrens, Mr. Heister, principal of the Mountain View high school, W. H. Whaley of Mountain View; L. H. Britton, principal of the Morgan Hill high school, and Robert Britton of Morgan Hill all argued against the bills.

The arguments against the bills were as follows: A law of this kind would tend to weaken high school districts. If a district voted bonds any of the districts could withdraw and go to another district without bonds and leave the old district to pay the obligation with a much smaller assessed valuation. It would also tend to weaken the district, as a disgruntled parent could stir up feeling and by getting a petition could unite with another district. It was also pointed out that children liked to attend large, new high schools and the old and smaller schools would be injured. Palo Alto put up a good fight and its representatives were ably assisted by Senator Jones. The local delegation was just as ably assisted by Senator M. B. Johnson, who fought the bills every minute of the time.

After nearly two hours of argument the committee refused to pass the bills out by a vote of 9 against and 5 for the measures.

GORDON SEELY LOCATED NOW IN OLD MEXICO

Gordon M. Seely, a former Redwood City young man, and a graduate of the local high school, is now located in the picturesque city of Matuhuala, in the state of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, where he holds a responsible position with the American Smelting and Refining Company at the big smelters of the concern there. Mr. Seely was recently transferred from the El Paso office. He left El Paso several weeks ago and went to Matuhuala via San Antonio, then by way of Monterrey, Mexico, down the mountain to his destination. While in San Antonio he visited the famous old "Alamo" and imagined, as do all tourists there, visions of the historic stand of the Texans against Santa Ana, the Mexican leader of 1840.

Matuhuala is a city of 30,000 inhabitants, without a two-story building. The grounds around the smelter are verdant with trees, lawns, flowers in border and beds. All the employees of the company are located there. Mr. Seely is quite contented and likes his work.

ANTQUATED SUIT IS DISMISSED IN SUPERIOR COURT

A suit filed in the superior court in San Mateo county on February 6, 1884, was dismissed Monday by Superior Judge George H. Buck at the request of Cullinan & Hickey, San Francisco, attorneys for the plaintiff in the action. It appearing that no return was ever made on the summons or any appearance made by any of the defendants.

The suit was filed for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company by Mr. Fox & Kelloggs, attorneys, the complaint being written entirely by hand and being over an unpaid note for $5,000 executed in favor of the plaintiff on June 2, 1882, by S. THE CLEAR AVOVAL

"It seems hard for some people with a reputation for high intellectuality to understand plain language," says Hon Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "Here is the Literary Digest remarking, 'The chief flaw found by his critics in President Harding's statement of his attitude toward Europe is that the public demand for a clear avoval on the league issue has not been satisfied.'"

"The public demand for a clear avoval was made last fall before the elections, when the league was the chief issue of the campaign. Candidate Cox forced the issue, placing it above all domestic issues. On that question Mr. Harding, the nominee of the Republican party, declared that the issue was clear—that Mr. Cox favored going into the league while he favored staying out."

"Now, could anything be clearer than that? If so, how would the editor of the Literary Digest express it? One was the direct opposite of the other. On that issue, so clearly stated, the people of the country gave Mr. Harding a plurality of more than 7,000,000."

"Since the election there has been no public demand for a statement from Mr. Harding on the league question and the Literary Digest's inference that there has been is wholly gratuitous. Mr. Harding's statement prior to the election was entirely satisfactory to an overwhelming majority of the people of the country, as evidenced by the votes cast, and this country has formed the habit of acquiescing in the decision of the majority. There are some internationalists who are not satisfied with the result, of course, but we were not aware that they were making any demand for a clearer statement than Mr. Harding made during the campaign."

"But if it were true that they were making a demand for a clear statement they certainly got it in the inaugural address. With a directness of purpose and frankness of expression which won the admiration of the world, whatever the prejudices some may have entertained, Mr. Harding plunged immediately into a discussion of the league question and said:

"Confident of our ability to work out our own destiny and jealously guarding our right to do so, we seek no part in directing the destinies of the old world. We do not mean to be entangled. We will accept no responsibility except as our own conscience and judgment in each instance may determine."

"Could any language be more specific than that? The league convention proposed to deprive us of our right to work out our own destiny. It proposed to entangle us and impose upon us the responsibility of helping work out the destinies of Europe. When Mr. Harding declared that we will jealously guard our right to work out our own destiny and will accept no responsibility except as our judgment shall determine in each separate instance, he said in substance what he said in the campaign, 'I favor staying out.' There is no other possible interpretation and dull indeed must be the mind that cannot understand the words as quoted."

"If any man wants a 'clear avoval' he can find it in the Harding campaign address and in the votes at the November election."

THE PROTECTIVE POLICY

Those philanthropic free traders who are so fearful that the Republicans will pass a tariff law which will interfere with importers' profits would do well to consider some of the objections of American manufacturers to unrestricted competition with European and oriental countries, particularly Germany and Japan. Representatives of the American toy industry, for example, enumerate among "other phases of the radically unfair competition to which American manufacturers are subjected and which calls for immediate and imperative necessary treatment" the fact that "the German and Japanese toy industries are un-governed by sanitary, union or child labor restrictions; that in the large proportion of home work done in both countries the earnings of an entire family are less than the wage of an individual American toy factory employee and that all of the most important and popular American toy inventions and devices are copied outright in both countries, neither of which is known to have a toy of importance to its credit as a creator." These toys copied by foreign makers are sent to this country and offered for sale at less than the American cost of actual production because of the wide difference between the wage scales and habits of life in the countries in question and those of the United States, according to American toy makers.

If there is any good reason why American toy manufacturers should be penalized for their efficiency by unregulated competition in the products of countries which employ child labor, the labor of old women, carried on under unsanitary conditions and unlimited as to hours, the free traders have not yet adduced it. If their propaganda for free trade is actuated by a desire to be helpful to humanity instead of by wish to add to their profits through escaping protective duties, they might well extend their philanthropy to Europe and Asia first, where labor conditions and the standards of living are such as no American, union or non-union, would for a moment tolerate.

Protection has a moral as well as an economic side. Our employees have become habituated to a higher standard of living, better clothes, better food, better education for their children, better housing and enlarged opportunities for recreation and mental improvement. The American laborer is no clod, no mere hewer of wood and drawer of water. And all this has been brought about through wages two or three times greater than prevail in Europe, five times those prevailing in the orient and an ever increasing appreciation of humanitarianism on the part of this nation generally.

With free trade the rule in this country, a policy which is supported by a dwindling minority, the tendency of labor conditions would be to descend to the level of those prevailing in Europe and the orient. The wage scale would be the first to drop, followed quickly by a lowering of the living standards. It is a mere platitude to say that a laboring man can not live as well, or support his family as well, on a wage curtailed by foreign competition as he can when that competition is restricted and the products of his labor are given the pre-dominant place in the domestic market. The free traders argue that the efficiency of the American workman will offset the foreign wage scales and then in the same breath declare that Europe can never pay her debt unless she is given a monopoly of the American market. But the Republican party intends to restore the protective policy and if these free traders are still philanthropically inclined they will find plenty of work to do in inducing foreign employers to raise the standards of their operations."

CALIFORNIA PROGRESS

By Robert Newtno Lynch

In considering plans for the future growth of California and expansion of her industries it is necessary to give attention to the question of power as a most vital and essential element.

In many sections of the state farmers require power for irrigation of their fields and orchards, stockmen need power to furnish an adequate supply of water for their stock and dwellers in the towns and cities that spring into new life around these various industries need power to furnish their homes and streets and transportation on their traction lines. All these interests are correlated and interdependent on an adequate supply of power from either steam or hydro-electric sources.

If the development of new sources of power keep pace with the growth of these other industries in our state that would be an ideal condition indeed.

There was considerable power shortage in 1920, due primarily to a lack of water following successive dry seasons, but even under ideal conditions hydro-electric development is essential. Unless power development is increased in the immediate future it is a question whether it will keep pace with the needs of our industrial and agricultural development and possibly resulting in a serious shortage and hampering the state's enterprise. Such a shortage was a particular peril to the economic life and manufacturing industries of the state.

Obviously such conditions cannot long continue. There must be found some other means of meeting the state's demand for power than by depending upon our oil wells. We can not look to gasoline, for there is also a threatened shortage of that utility, nor to coal or natural gas—the latter is now being rationed in some parts of Southern California.

The solution of the problem lies in more intensive development of energy from hydro-electric sources. Millions of horsepower may be developed from mountain streams within the state, where the water now running to waste may be utilized for the generation of enough power to supply California's industries for many years to come. It is the only present available source of supply which remains undeveloped.

Engineers after careful survey of the California field estimate that the state has a potential maximum of four million horsepower of hydro-electric energy which it would be practicable to develop for commercial purposes. But the amount developed to date totals not more than a million horsepower. To develop the balance will require expenditures in stupendous amounts, almost a billion dollars. It should be developed before 1930, if possible, and certainly before 1935, if California's industrial development is to be carried along in lines heretofore followed. To delay such development for a longer period would cripple our industries and retard the state's predestined growth.

To show that such a condition is not an impossibility it is necessary only to point to the fact that already we are suffering from a shortage of hydro-electric power. During 1920 this shortage amounted to 20 per cent of the total demands. That is to say, California could have used to advantage 100,000 horsepower more than it could get from available sources. Had this additional 100,000 horsepower been available during the year, more factories could have been kept in operation, many more acres of land could have been irrigated, thousands more of homes could have been lighted. The financial returns to the state from such increased development would reach a figure that would be staggering.

Where shall we turn for relief from this situation? The remedy lies with our own people. Let us encourage the power companies now engaged in developing these resources and bid them embark on the most ambitious programs for increasing the hydro-electric sources which are awaiting their enterprise. Let us prove our faith in our state by welcoming such measures as will save our industries from threatened power shortage. Our resources and our ability to do this are shown by the enormous volume of deposits in our banks, which were greater by $176,000,000 at the beginning of 1921 than at the beginning of 1920, as shown by the reports of the state superintendent of banks.

Throughout the state generally there should be a quickening of interest in this very important problem and a spirit of willingness on the part of our people to assist the utility companies in their efforts to solve it now before an actual shortage comes upon us.

BUICK MOTOR CARS

For years the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply—even when Buick production amounted to 500 cars daily. Because of the material curtailment of motor car production this winter, the country faces a decided shortage of quality cars this spring and summer.

Consequently Buick dealers are advising motorists to place their Buick orders now because orders must be sent to factory months in advance of delivery.

The reason why the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply is more pronounced than ever in the 1921 Buick. Coupled with the noted Buick power and dependability are added riding comfort, easier control and a beauty and grace that fittingly express Buick worth.

Authorized Buick service insures full return on Buick investment.

COUNTY BOARD IN REGULAR SESSION

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday morning, there being present Dr. C. V. Thompson, president, T. L. Hickey, Mrs. Rosalie M. Brown, John MacBain and Manuel Francis.

An application of A. Levin of Daly City for a renewal of his peddler's license in the county was granted, on motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Brown.

The board received and opened a bid from J. J. McHugh of San Francisco for the oiling and repairing of the La Honda-San Gregorio road from the summit to the township bridge. The figures being considered too high the bid was rejected, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, and the check ordered returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

County Engineer George A. Kneese presented plans for the construction of a retaining wall on the La Honda to San Gregorio road in the third township. The plans were accepted, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, and Mrs. Nash, the clerk, was directed to advertise for bids, the same to be opened on Monday, May 2, at 10 a. m.

On motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Brown, Supervisor MacBain was given authority to oil and repair the La Honda road from the summit to the township bridge by day's labor.

On motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, the supervisor from the third township was given permission to close the road for tourist travel and truck hauling while the above repair work is being done.

A communication was received from the state railroad commission advising the board that the application of Foster & Stryker for permission to furnish water to the residents of Emerald Lake and Oak Knoll Manor, near Redwood City, had been dismissed without prejudice.

A communication was also received from the railroad commission notifying the board of a hearing in San Francisco on April 4 in the matter of the application of the Great Western Power Company for permission to continue its surcharge of 5 per cent applicable to its electric rates.

On motion of Hickey, seconded by MacBain, Supervisor Brown was granted authority to purchase the necessary planking for repairing five bridges in her district on the road that was recently acquired from the Spring Valley Water Company for another road that was ordered closed.

Architect William H. Toepeke appeared before the board to see what action the supervisors wished to take with regard to the construction of the new county hospital at Beresford.

He called attention to the fact that there had been a considerable reduction in the cost of building materials and also a small cut in labor since last December, at which time the board rejected all bids for the construction work on account of the total cost running far in excess of the contemplated price.

Supervisors MacBain and Hickey both addressed the board and said they believed this would be the opportune time for receiving figures for the various classes of construction and after further discussion it was decided, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, to have Mrs. Nash, the clerk, advertise for bids, the same to be opened Monday, May 16.

A communication was received from G. Patroni of El Granada, informing the board that he would not be willing to dedicate or donate certain strips of land belonging to him, as requested, one at North Granada, one at South Granada and the other at Granada proper, for roadways to connect the Granada tract with the highway.

Supervisor Francis, in whose district the above property is located, stated that he had had an interview with Patroni since the above letter was written and that the latter was willing that the strip at Granada should be used as a road. At the request of Supervisor Francis and on motion of Hickey, seconded by MacBain, County Surveyor Kneese was directed to make the necessary surveys for the new road.

The report of W. Tate, county horticultural commissioner, was received, showing that 366 shipments.

Supervisor MacBain addressed the board regarding courting matches that are being held at San Bruno and which he claims are being conducted in violation of a county ordinance.

Supervisor Hickey said when courting matches were being held last year he had taken the matter up with the parties interested in the sport and they agreed to discontinue holding them. Now he said they were again conducting them in violation of the ordinance.

The board after discussion, made an order, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Hickey, directing District Attorney Swart and Sheriff Sheehan to notify interested parties in the courting game that they must comply with the ordinance.

Over thirty relatives and friends were present. The tables and from above the tables was festively decorated with California poppies and from above the table was suspended a huge wedding bell fashioned of the same gorgeous flowers. Ralph W. Folmer a contractor of Palo Alto, has purchased from the Union Trust Company and Charles H. Lovell as trustees a strip of land on Ravenswood avenue between the state highway and the Southern Pacific tracks, being 204x244 feet, for $4,600. In the passing of J. Henry Meyer this community has lost a splendid citizen and the state a worthy man. Mr. Meyer was loved for his kindness and consideration for those he employed. His employees idolized him for his tender consideration of them at all times. He was a progressive citizen who believed in advancing. He was generous to a fault in aiding and assisting this community which he loved so much. The news of his death caused profound sorrow in Menlo Park, where he was universally esteemed for his good deeds of kindness to others. Mr. Meyer was devoted to his home and family.

The death of his wife three years ago told heavily upon him. He never fully recovered from the shock of her demise and began to decline. He passed away at his beautiful new home at Menlo Heights on Wednesday night. The family had moved into the new building a few months ago, the old residence having been destroyed by fire in 1919.

Mr. Meyer was a native of Sacramento, aged 66 years. He was accounted one of the ablest financiers of the state. The funeral took place at Cypress Lawn cemetery yesterday afternoon.

As the business executive of Antiope Borel, a leading financier in San Francisco's early days and later as an independent banker, Meyer exercised a great influence in the development of the street railways in San Francisco and the street rail system in Los Angeles. Other firms thrived notably under his guidance.

Much of the capitalist's time was given to the J. Henry Meyer Company, a banking firm on Montgomery street, of which he was president. He was the chief executive also in the City and Suburban Realty Company, and the Mission Terrace Company. Other concerns in which he was a director are Bankers Investment

Company, California Central Creameries, California Oregon Power Company, Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company, General Petroleum Corporation, Mission Rock Company, San Francisco and County Realty Company, Siskiyou Light and Power Company, Union Trust Company and Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank.

Memberships were held by Meyer in the Pacific Union and Bohemian clubs and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

He leaves two daughters, Olga and Alice Meyer, and a son, Charles Hillmeier Meyer.

One of the few men of his age who were natives of California, Meyer always evinced a keen interest in the history of the state. To advance historical research he gave the sum of $6,000 five years ago to Stanford University. The fund is known as "The J. Henry Meyer Endowment in Memory of Antoine Borel."

Charging desertion, Mrs. Adele Gordon Brainerd of Menlo Park has filed suit in the superior court for divorce from James Lamb Brainerd. Mrs. Brainerd states in her complaint that she was deserted in Monterey on January 1, 1917, by her husband. The couple have one son, James L. Brainerd, Jr., aged 12, and the plaintiff asks for his custody and $300 per month for the support of herself and child, asserting that Brainerd is well able in his own right to provide that amount. She also asks for $150 counsel fees and $50 costs of suit. John W. Preston and Robert Duncan are her attorneys in the action. The Brainerds live in the Coleman tract near Runnymede.
